Thank you very much for your letter of June 1st and the suggestions contained therein. Naturally, we are most interested in any plan for the effective gathering of intelligence, and I should be very glad to talk to you whenever you come to Washington. My telephone number is [redacted] and on your next visit, if you will give me a call, I am sure we can arrange a meeting. If I should happen to be in [redacted] before your next visit to Washington, I shall, of course, look you up.

Very truly yours,
